Aptitude for Engineering Assessment (AEA): applications now open

The aptitude for engineering assessment (AEA) offers Year 12 students an admissions pathway into engineering at Griffith University.

The exam is a two-and-a-half hour multiple choice test that assesses the candidate's aptitude to think scientifically, solve quantitative problems, critically analyse information and display interpersonal understanding.

Students who successfully pass the exam will receive admission directly into the Bachelor of Engineering (Honours) or Bachelor of Engineering Technology in Electronic and Computer Engineering at Griffith University.

» For more details and to register for the assessment go to griffith.edu.au/aptitude-engineering-assessment

UNSW@ADFA Girls in STEM

We know women are under-represented in STEM careers, particularly at high levels. Women are under-represented at university in physical sciences and engineering courses in Australia and most other countries. And girls are under-represented in high school science and maths classes. UNSW Canberra Scientia Education Fellow Dr Kate Wilson considers what could be contributing to this problem.
