

You're invited!

Come and meet your local senior police – find out what's happening with law and order in your community – and ask any questions you may have!

- How Lifesavers and Police keep our community safe – together! ***

Guest speaker – Nathan Fife
Life Saving Coordinator, Surf Life Saving Queensland

Nathan has been involved with Surf Life Saving for 28 years and has been awarded Queensland's Life Saver of the Year, Australian IRB Champion and Life Membership at Broadbeach SLSC.

His notable volunteer executive positions have included Club Captain, Chief Instructor, Chief Training Officer and is the IRB Coach for Broadbeach SLSC.

He frequently liaises with the Gold Coast Water Police to coordinate Search and Rescue tasks that have been issued by the QLD Police Service. He is also the head coordinator for Surf Life Saving Queensland Search and Rescue Night Operations.

Who better to talk about how our iconic Lifesavers, along with our Police, are keeping our community safe.

5 PM for 5:30 PM start – Thursday 23rd of August at the Currumbin RSL

The Burleigh, Palm Beach & Elanora (Police) Community Consultative Committee, was established to develop a partnership between the Police and the community and meets every three months in an open forum:-

- To update the public on law and order matters in the community
- To give everyone the opportunity to meet the Senior Police at the Palm Beach and Elanora Police stations – whose responsibility is also Burleigh.
- To discuss any issues regarding community safety
- To share information and air any concerns, fears or grievances

So, we invite everyone to come along to the Currumbin RSL, to see what a great job our Lifesavers and Police are doing, do your bit for the community and see how you can best help them, to help us!
